From Our Rector

"Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you. Not as the world gives do I give it to you."

I've heard many times from many people: "I just want a little peace in my" (fill in the blank): home, workplace, school, relationships. I've said it myself. But when we ask for peace, what do we expect? Lack of conflict? Smooth interactions? Continuity? Certainty? I would venture all the above at some point.

Our lives today are so loud. Arguing is the latest great pastime on television. Discord for the sake of entertainment is the key to good ratings. Even great ratings. Peace comes at the expense of another. In war, this is obvious. But what of our everyday existence? Is it possible to disagree with someone and not have it devolve into personal recriminations? In our families do we just try to be right for the sake of being right? Does that bring peace or just resignation?

Jesus is pretty clear on this point: the peace he offers is not the absence of conflict or the winning score card. Conflict will arise because we are human. But certainty can be found; peace can be found in Christ. What He offers is not a life free of strife, but a life capable of dealing with strife.

Easier said than done, because finding peace entails trust, and in belief. We trust in God; we believe in His goodness and His compassion. So, armed with this we can find that peace which is so elusive without Him. Saint Augustine famously said, "Our hearts are restless until the rest in you, O Lord." Peace, then, comes when we recognize the need for God in our lives.

Today at Mass, we will offer a sign of peace to one another. Hopefully we can put aside any barriers to this offer and truly receive it in the spirit in which it is given. When we offer peace to each other, we offer hope. We offer the chance to meet God one-on-one, face-to-face. It is this peace I pray you receive into your hearts always.

God Bless. Fr. Posey
